What are your open record rights?

If you ask, any County agency will provide its "open records request procedure." If you want to learn more about the Kansas Open Records Act (KSA 45-215 et seq.), learn which agency may have records you seek, or if you have difficulty obtaining records from any County agency, contact the County's Freedom of Information Officer (FIO). If you feel an agency has wrongfully denied you access to records, you may ask the FIO to help resolve the dispute. You have the right to file a complaint with the Kingman County Attorney or with the Kansas Attorney General. If you wish to file a complaint, the FIO will provide contact information.

Exceptions

The Kansas Open Records Act recognizes that some records contain information which is private in nature. For this reason, the Act lists a number of exceptions. Records that are closed for this reason may include:

- Personnel information of public employees
- Medical treatment records
- Records which are protected by the attorney-client privilege or the rules of evidence
- Records containing personal information compiled for Census purposes
- Notes and preliminary drafts
- Criminal investigation records
- Several other specific records

For a complete listing of exemptions, see K.S.A. 45-221.

What Sheriff records are available?

Kansas Open Records Act (KORA) only requires agencies to provide records that already exist. KORA does not require creating new records, compiling special research or statistical reports, or interpreting records.

Records often requested are listed below:

- Traffic accident reports
- Theft reports
- Other incident reports
- Jail log
- Report log book
- Mug shots

Criminal history record information

In general, County agencies cannot provide criminal history record information (CHRI) about individuals, whether to employers for applicants, to individuals about themselves, or to others. County employees who provide CHRI in violation of law may be terminated and prosecuted. However, records of adult convictions and trial proceedings within Kingman County are available from the District Court.

Individuals with proper identification can be provided with their own Local conviction data with the Sheriff's Office. Non-conviction data shall not be disseminated. Persons requesting criminal history information should be referred to the Kansas Bureau of Investigation Records or the Federal Bureau of Investigations records sections for their criminal History Information.

The Kansas Bureau of Investigation (KBI) is the central CHRI repository for Kansas, and regulates dissemination of CHRI to criminal justice agencies and all others. To the extent the law allows, the KBI provides CHRI to persons about themselves, to employers, and to others. Certain records checks can be submitted online for a fee, and further information is available at the KBI Web site.

Why Would My Request be Denied?

Although every attempt will be made to provide the information requested, it is not always possible to fulfill the request. There are a number of reasons that a request may be denied:

- The records may be another agency's responsibility.
- The records were never created, or cannot be found.
- The record was destroyed in the normal course of business, consistent with County policy and State law.
- The request was unclear or incomplete - please resubmit with needed detail.
- The record is closed to protect an important privacy interest or other interest authorized by KORA (see KSA 45-221) - the agency will explain and cite specific legal provisions.

Use of Public Records – Please Read Carefully

"No person shall knowingly sell, give or receive, for the purpose of selling or offering for sale, any property or service to persons listed therein, any list of names and addresses contained therein, or derived from public records..." K.S.A. 21-3914. Violation of this law is a Class C Misdemeanor and can subject the violator to prosecution and imprisonment up to 30 days and a fine of $500.00. Violators will be reported for prosecution. By accessing this site, the user makes the following certification pursuant to K.S.A. 45-220(c)(2): "the requester does not intend to, and will not: (A) Use any list of names or addresses contained in or derived from the records or information for the purpose of selling or offering for sale any property or service to any person listed or to any person who resides at any address listed; or (B) sell, give or otherwise make available to any person any list of names or addresses contained in or derived from the records or information the purpose of allowing that person to sell or offer for sale any property or service to any person listed or to any person who resides at any address listed."

How do you request records?

1. Prepare your request. It may help to check with the Office Manager first to find out if the record you want is available, and what information is needed to obtain it. You will need to describe what you want in specific terms. If you don't know which agency has the record(s) you seek, ask the Freedom of Information Officer.

2. Submit your request. Simple requests for a few current records often can be handled while you wait.

For more complex and for restricted records, the agency may require a written request. Describe what you want as specifically as you can. You MAY want to use the form provided for mutual convenience, but agencies cannot require that written requests be submitted on their forms.

KORA allows an agency to ask your name and address. For restricted records, an agency may require proof of identity or other information sufficient to determine your right under law to access the records.

3. Agency responds. For most routine requests, agencies will produce records within three business days. Some records will require more time – within three business days agencies must tell you when and how they plan to provide you access and/or copies.

Your request may be denied, in whole or in part. If the agency denies your request, it must specify the records denied, and cite legal basis for denial. Any denial will be made upon advice of legal counsel.

The agency should respond within three business days.
